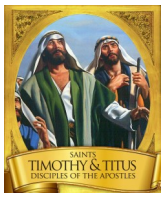
January 28th & January 31st Feast Days coming up

St. Thomas Aquinas (January 28)

St. Thomas Aquinas was a Dominican priest, theologian, and Doctor of the Church, renowned for his deep intellect and humility. He devoted his life to studying Scripture and theology, showing how faith and reason work together to reveal God's truth. His greatest work, Summa Theologica, continues to guide the Church's understanding of God, morality, and the sacraments.

SS. Timothy and Titus (January 26)



Saints Timothy and Titus were close companions of St. Paul and early leaders of the Church. Entrusted with guiding Christian communities, they helped preserve sound teaching and encouraged believers to live with faith, courage, and integrity. Their witness reminds us of the importance of faithful leadership and mentorship in the Church.

St. Angela Merici (January 27)

St. Angela Merici was a laywoman and educator who devoted her life to the Christian formation of young women. She founded the Company of St. Ursula, emphasizing education, prayer, and service within everyday life. Her example encourages us to trust God's guidance and to serve faithfully wherever we are called.

St. John Bosco (January 31)

St. John Bosco was a priest and founder of the Salesians, best known for his loving dedication to young people. He believed education and faith should be rooted in kindness, patience, and joy, especially for poor and at-risk youth. His gentle approach, called the "Preventive System," continues to inspire Catholic education and youth ministry around the world
